

Stephen Strang on Fox News: Why Trump Is Protecting Prayer in Schools

Fox & Friends host Steve Doocy interviewed Stephen E. Strang, CEO and founder of Charisma Media and author of God, Trump and the 2020 Election, regarding a recent statement by President Donald Trump.

Trump announced he would protect prayer in public schools, threatening to withhold federal funds if students are discouraged from and discriminated for practicing their religion at school.

Doocy asked Strang why children should be allowed to pray in public school, if evangelicals will continue to support Trump and why Strang wrote his book.

"Everything about Donald Trump is from a political or cultural point of view," Strang says. "I write from the spiritual point of view."
