During a speech in Concord, North Carolina, Vice President J.D. Vance addressed the situation, stating, "In Dallas, Texas, an ICE facility, an Immigration and Customs Enforcement facility was opened fire upon by a violent, left-wing extremist. A person who wrote anti-ICE messaging on their bullets, and there's some evidence that we have that's not yet public, but we know this person was politically motivated."

Vance said that the suspect was driven to go after law enforcement.

"They were politically motivated to go after people who are enforcing our border, and I think that is the most disgusting thing," said Vance. "The very people who keep us safe ought to be honored and protected and praised by Democrats and Republicans alike. It is time to stop the rhetorical assault on law enforcement.”
