

The Grammy Winner the Media Ignored: The Holy Spirit

You go, Taylor Swift! And what was up with Adele's sound? Did you see that Hamilton performance?

The 2016 Grammy Award headlines fill social media streams, but few mention how the Holy Spirit won.

"Holy Spirit," which proclaims: Holy Spirit, you are welcome here/Come flood this place and fill the atmosphere won best contemporary Christian music performance by Francesca Battistelli.

"I'm so grateful for @BryanTorwalt & @katietorwalt. They wrote an incredible song, & the Lord is honoring it! I'm thankful to get to sing it!" Battistelli tweeted after the win.

Other Christian winners include TobyMac for Best Contemporary Christian Music Album and Kirk Franklin for Best Gospel Performance/Song.
