

The Joseph Storehouse

The Joseph Storehouse is a humanitarian aid center in the hills of Jerusalem and is the central focus of an ever-expanding ministry, Vision for Israel. The goal of this organization is to be a source of emergency assistance to the entire community of Israel, whether Jewish, Arab or Christian. Their desire is to be a channel of mercy through the distribution of a full range of items such as emergency medical equipment, food, toiletries, clothing and other necessities. The Joseph Storehouse also warehouses supplies for times of emergency in the land of Israel. One of the strategic ways in which they stock materials is through the receipt of the individual parcels from Vision for Israel supporters worldwide. Since they cannot receive less than 2,200 pounds per shipment to the Port of Ashdod or Haifa, they have developed several consolidation points to which individual parcels can be mailed for subsequent crating and shipment to Israel.
