

‘This Is About Hatred and Indoctrination’

The recent wave of terrorism in Israel, especially in Jerusalem, has Israeli citizens and their government screaming a position of self-defense in hopes that the world will listen to their pleas and open its eyes to the reality of their desperate situation.

The Israeli police, due to the recent wave of terrorism, have set up temporary military roadblocks in order to protect Israel’s population centers. This is only a temporary measure as Israel’s security ministers have defended its position of self-defense.

“Ask yourself, what can explain that several kids, even a 13-year-old boy, (to) decide one morning to take a knife and kill another 13-year-old boy?” asked Israeli Security Cabinet Member Dr. Yuval Steinitz. “Is this about the peace process in the Middle East? Of course not, this is about hatred and indoctrination.

“Why are Palestinian kids dreaming of becoming monsters and killing Jews? It’s as though they were indoctrinated by the Palestinian Authority.”

Jewish News Network’s Barry Segal reports on the violence and the measures Israeli citizens and its government are taking to defend themselves. Watch the video here:
