

Tween Goes Toe to Toe With Teacher Who Insists God Is a Myth

The 12-year-old girl made her way to the podium in front of a nearly empty room, the school board before her.

Her seventh-grade teacher challenged Jordan Wooley's faith, and Wooley wasn't about to let the teacher bully her into silence.

"Today I was given an assignment in school that questioned my faith and told me God was not real," Wooley began.

Wooley was far from the only student who was offended, but she was the only one who stood up. Watch the video to see her speech.
