

UPDATE: Wife of Legendary Christian Rocker Says He Has a Brain Tumor

Annie Lobert, founder of Hookers for Jesus and wife of Stryper guitarist Oz Fox, says her husband has two tumors—one near his ear and the other on the back of his brain.

Fox suffered from a seizure on stage Sunday night.

The MRI results revealed two inoperable tumors on his brain.

Fox's treatment and procedures are not covered by insurance, so Lobert launched a GoFundMe for their medical bills. So far, more than $31,000 of the $100,000 goal was raised in just one day.

"When you meet Oz—you feel like you've known him all your life! He is a wonderful son, dad, husband, musician, but most of all a faithful, reliable and a loyal friend. He would give his shirt off his back to help anyone in need—that's who he is. Oz truly has a heart of gold!" Lobert writes on the page.

"We love you all! Your love, support & concern has meant more than you know. We trust God and not the results! Please continue to lift Oz up in prayer for total healing & restoration~Annie (wife of Oz)," she concludes.