

Urgent Warning: The Rapture Could Happen Sooner Than Expected!

Are we closer to the rapture than everyone thought?

In a recent thought-provoking interview, Jennifer Bagnaschi sat down with Rabbi Kirt Schneider to decode the mysteries of the book of Revelation. Their discussion explores how biblical prophecy is unfolding before our eyes and what believers must do to prepare.

One of the most gripping moments in the conversation was the breakdown of the 21 judgments in Revelation—the Seven Seals, Seven Trumpets and Seven Bowls—which parallel the plagues of Egypt. Rabbi Schneider emphasized that while the Tribulation will come, God's people will be shielded just as Israel was protected during the Exodus.

"I believe it'll be a difficult time to live, but the grace of God will be sufficient," Schneider says.

Rabbi Schneider pointed to rapid advancements in artificial intelligence, digital addiction and the devaluation of human relationships as clear signs that we are living in prophetic times. He warned that as AI surpasses human capabilities, the value of human life is being diminished, a troubling development that aligns with end-times deception.

"The Lord said to Daniel, 'In the last days knowledge will greatly increase and people will be traveling to and fro,'" Schneider says. "So, Daniel was able to see thousands of years into the future with jet travel and internet technology and 're living in those days right now."

Schneider also believes that the enemy will utilize AI to be the "greatest and most powerful demon that's been released on the earth, the demon of addiction to internet technology."

Besides the rise of artificial intelligence, Schneider reminds listeners that the nations will ultimately turn against Israel, culminating in the battle of Armageddon. In light of this, he urged believers to remain vigilant, live righteously and place their trust in God rather than worldly preparations.

He also notes the significance of the biblical feasts in understanding God's timeline. Jesus' crucifixion occurred on Passover, His Resurrection on First Fruits, meaning it is possible that the rapture could align with the Feast of Trumpets. These divine appointments serve as prophetic markers for the unfolding of God's plan.

In a time of uncertainty, this discussion serves as a powerful reminder that God's plan is unfolding exactly as foretold. The signs are clear, and the call is urgent—believers must stay watchful, rooted in the Word and ready for the return of the King.
