Was Trump's road to victory part of a prophetic timeline? Perhaps the reason is beyond our own natural understanding.

While none of us can understand all that God has in store or how His timing works, many believe that it is quite possible Trump's second term victory happening in 2024 is better for him, and for his service to the American people.

"I remember saying to him, it was probably six months or so after he left the White House, I remember saying to him, 'I actually think that this was God's timing for you,'" says Lara Trump. "I actually believe that what people are going to experience over the next several years are going to show them they should have voted for you, and if that's something you want to do again, I think that you'd be successful."

Lara also pointed to the Butler, Pennsylvania assassination attempt as a significant moment that changed Donald's life forever.

"He's always believed in God, he's always been a somewhat religious person; I think it's a different level for him now," she says.

Prophetic voice Jonathan Cahn also points to God's perfect timing for Trump's political comeback.

"This coming back seems much different, much stronger, much more thought out, much more strategic," says Cahn.

Cahn also points out that this is Trump's last chance in the White House, and it very well could be the very last opportunity for America to turn back to God and His righteousness. Therefore, it is necessary for Trump to dive all in for Jesus this time around as the leader of our nation.

"He has to go all out for God this time," says Cahn.

Even conservative commentator Glenn Beck noted that Trump would have not been as effective as president if re-elected in 2020 as he will be today.

"We would not have had this president, the man he is today, if it wasn't for his loss in 2020," says Beck.

Prophetic voice, Amanda Grace, also shared how she believes that if Trump was re-elected in 2020 we would've seen greater division instead of unity in the nation.

"It would've just been more division and even chaos," says Grace. "2024 was about unifying a way was not made straight at that point for him to actually get done what God has anointed him to do in the second term. So, God purposefully delayed to align the other part of it, which was Congress to open the door to make the way straight and to bring order so President Trump can do what God has called him to do in this term."

Just as Kim Clement prophesied that Trump would be a two-term president, we should pray that he would also be a praying president, which was something Clement foresaw. With the inauguration just days away, pray for Trump, his family and his incoming administration to do all that God has called them to accomplish.
