

WATCH: Amazingly Realistic Fly-Through of Museum of the Bible

Watch this video and get a sneak peak of the Museum of the Bible, still under construction in Washington, D.C., as it comes to life. Walk through the 40-foot bronze doors that show Genesis 1 from the Gutenberg Bible, and into the grand lobby. See guests meandering through the impact, history and narrative floors as they discover new insights about the Bible. And finish the tour in the rooftop biblical garden.
