

WATCH: Dick Cheney Says Obama Wants to 'Take America Down'

When President Barack Obama compared Iran to America when it comes to "complications," Dick Cheney and his daughter Liz took to the microphone to sound off.

The recent Iranian nuclear deals have many on edge, and the Cheneys are worried about the future of our country and the implications of such a deal.

So much so, Dick Cheney told radio host Hugh Hewitt that Obama is the first president since World War II to step away from a bipartisan government and lean on his own understanding.

"It's a mark of weakness of this president," Cheney says.

Watch the video to hear how Cheney believes Obama will take America down.