

WATCH: Facebook Blocks Christian Movie Ad for Violating 'Language Policies'

Social media campaigns flood feeds everyday, with crowds funding endless streams of projects they believe in.

The catch is that Facebook has to approve what goes through their advertising feed, and they weren't too fond of letting "I Am a Christian" movie ads.

What did they say to the producers? Watch the video to see!