

WATCH: Fake Homophobia Complaint Lands Street Preacher in Jail for 11 Hours

About 20 minutes of sharing the gospel is all it took for street preacher Rob Hughes to land in an unfortunate predicament.

He was trying to share about needing God when he was verbally accosted by a young woman.

“A young girl came along and really took to what I was saying in a fairly negative way,” Hughes says. “She threw a number of profanities at me, very rather disgusting language at me, and accused me of judging her.”

What happens next landed him behind bars.

Take a look.
