

WATCH: If This Is America's Future, Everything Is Going to Be All Right

With all the talk of millennials leaving church, some wonder about the next generation—especially at a time when antichrist spirits are combating all things related to morality in this nation.

But if 2-year-old Izzy is any indication, we may just be alright after all. Izzy is clearly flowing with the Holy Spirit as she worships God to the tune of Chris Tomlin's "Our God." (Izzy is now four years old.)

This reminds me of Acts 2:17: "And it shall come to pass in the last days, says God, that I will pour out of My Spirit on all flesh; Your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, your young men shall see visions, your old men shall dream dreams."
