

WATCH: Is This Jesus Statue Really Weeping Over Politics?

When Alexis Tsipras took control of Greece as prime minister last month, his main goal was get the economy back on track.

But members of this Corinthian church aren't happy—and they say Jesus, isn't either. This video shows what they claim are tears streaming down the icon's face since Tsipras took power.

Is this for real? Or just another strange Mary-like apparition or Jesus toast?

Watch the video and judge for yourself.