

WATCH: Obama Concerned About 'Less-Than-Loving' Christians

The president starts his remarks amicably enough, asking for prayer as his daughters start looking at colleges.

The crowd is laughing, caught up in Barack Obama's charisma, but not before they're taken aback by his next comments.

"When I listen to less-than-loving expressions by Christians, I get concerned," Obama says.

Watch the video and sound off on Obama's comments.