

WATCH: Parents Save 1-Year-Old Daughter by Shielding Her From the Tornado That Killed Them

When the tornado sirens sounded in Nashville, Arkansas, Melissa and Michael Mooneyhan grabbed their most precious possession and wrapped her carefully in their arms.

“That baby was definitely their life. They considered her their greatest blessing,” a relative tells the Associated Press.

The tornado killed them, but their daughter is a little miracle.

“You couldn’t find two parents who loved a child more. She’s going to grow up knowing family and knowing love.”

Watch the video to see more of their heartbreaking story.
