

WATCH: Pastor Declares Psalm 46 Over Houston, Demands Storms Bow to the Name of Jesus

The outlook appears bleak through natural eyes. But as Christians, we know God is bigger than any storm.

To honor the Lord and take authority over the storm, Stringer declares Psalm 46 over Texas.

If you feel so led to help Harvey victims, you can DONATE HERE.

Text to give through that page: Text "102" to 713-597-8877. A link to the mobile responsive donation page will be texted back to the person so they can give through their mobile device.

Funds will be use to provide assistance to those impacted by Hurricane Harvey during the relief and into the recovery phases. Somebody Cares will be providing help throughout the region hit by the storm and subsequent flooding throughout Texas and, if damage is significant, into Louisiana as well. Fund will be used for things like:

- Providing hot meals to first responders, residents and evacuees

- Transportation to bring in high-priority items for distribution
- Mud-outs and home repair
- Supporting church shelters
- Purchasing cots, blankets, tents or other essential items for evacuee care
- Meeting special needs of seniors, the physically challenged and others as they are identified
- Assisting ministry homes and the homeless
