

WATCH: Pope Francis: The Devil is Working to Divide Evangelicals and Catholics

Evangelicals and Catholics have their vast differences, but there are some wars the two branches of the body of Christ need to fight together, focusing on commonalities above differences.

“The unity that is budding among us is the unity which begins under the seal of the baptism we have all received,” Pope Francis says.

He calls the division between the two a wound created by the father of lies.

Watch the video to see how the pope suggests defeating the devil.