

Why the Democratic Machine in California Should Fear Azusa Street

Apostle Fred Berry of the Azusa Street Mission invites pastors, leaders and freethinkers to stand on Azusa Street again in agreement to recall Gov. Gavin Newsom, to remind the voters of how he has failed us in California.

We must recall how our churches were closed and labeled nonessential until bold pastors fought back and won court battles to reopen our churches. We will remind voters how this governor kept open liquor stores, marijuana shops and abortion clinics while closing our schools and businesses. The "Recall Rally in the Alley" will be held on Saturday, Sept. 11, at 5:30 p.m. at the internationally known 312 Azusa Street in downtown Los Angeles; home of the Azusa Street Revival of 1906.

It was there that people said, "The color line was washed away by the blood of Jesus."

We expect a gathering of pastors and Christian leaders in support of Newsom's recall. Join our press and prayer meeting to expose the hidden agenda behind the racist newspaper article written by the Los Angeles Times newspaper. The gathering will be held at the original location of the Azusa Street Revival led by Black Pastor William Seymour, who was viciously attacked by the same Los Angeles Times newspaper organization in 1906.

The white face of racism is hidden in plain sight while they use Black faces to attack legitimate leaders who truly care about the Black community. Larry Elder is an intelligent and articulate lawyer who just happens to be a talk-show host from South Central. He is more than qualified to run for governor.

The fears of the left-leaning liberals in California are that a free-thinking Black man might expose the real racist behind the curtains of government and media. The “grand wizards” of Oz behind Gov. Gavin Newsom’s Democratic machine and the Los Angeles Times are truly afraid.

Fred and Wilma Berry carry on the history of Azusa Street as international representatives through the Azusa Street Mission and Historical Society. The organization’s mission is to carry the flame of Azusa Street to the next generation throughout the nations of the world. {eo}
