

Witches, Warlocks and the Supreme Court

Author's Note: Surrounded by witches and warlocks openly performing their dark craft, our team has been on Capitol Hill praying over the High Court as it prepares to deliver its much-anticipated ruling on abortion. Despite decades of pro-life work around the country and at the U.S. Supreme Court, we've never witnessed such hostile and demonically inspired evil directed at the justices and the judicial system. Read on to learn what our staff is seeing on Capitol Hill and how you can help us fight for life. – Mat Staver

On Sunday afternoon, some of our Washington, staff members participated in a prayer vigil outside the Supreme Court building. Our staff members collectively have decades of experience in the district and in the fight to defend human life. But even all those years of experience could not prepare us for what we have witnessed lately.

A small podium and two loudspeakers had been set up to allow the prayer vigil attendees to speak and play worship songs. But as prayer began, our staff and the intercessors were surrounded by darkness.

Black-robed men and women began arriving on the scene, screaming obscenities over the prayers. Screams of “[expletive] your God and your religion” began to fill the air.

As the prayer team's worship music continued, a pro-abortion demonstrator brought a wagon carrying a large boom box blaring satanic “music” and noise. Its volume increased to drown out the songs of praise.

Nonetheless, the intercessors continued to pray. Peggy, one of our staff members who was in attendance, says “the longer we prayed, the more anxious and agitated the satanists became.” The evil surrounding the intercessors did NOT want the Word of God proclaimed!

Women dressed like prostitutes began to arrive, leaving little of their exposed bodies to the imagination. They gleefully joined the melee the witches and warlocks had begun.

A woman walked right up to our podium and stood next to the pro-life speaker. Every time the pro-lifer spoke, the woman would scream unprintable curses into a megaphone pointed at the podium microphone.

The pro-abortion crowd began cursing the justices, the people praying and, yes, vehemently cursing God Himself.

Repeatedly, the satanists and pro-abortion protesters would interrupt and try to drown out the prayers.

Peggy has lived and worked on Capitol Hill for decades. She’s participated in more pro-life prayer vigils than even she can count. She’s personally witnessed the violent protests of both Antifa and BLM. During the days of the Kavanaugh confirmation hearings, we had to hire additional security guards.

But we have never witnessed the level of evil as is taking place before the Supreme Court and in the district right now.

Satan worshippers have covered sidewalks with black magic ritual circles and candles, performing their dark incantations near midnight most evenings. Half-burnt candles and other garbage of active witchcraft lay scattered on the public spaces around the court.

Meanwhile, one man, who had the attire and appearance of a horror-movie warlock, targeted senior ladies quietly praying for the lives of the unborn. The warlock would crowd one woman at a time, making the sign of Satan over the women’s heads.

As he made the sign, guttural growls and a language our staff could not understand issued from his throat as he spat his demonic curses over the women. One by one, he tried to corner them and curse them.

With all her years on Capitol Hill and all the protests she has witnessed, Peggy is generally unflappable. But when the warlock began stalking senior women to issue his demonic curses, she says an almost palpable feeling of darkness rose in the air.

It's Not Just in Washington, D.C. ...

Ever since the Supreme Court draft opinion on abortion was leaked, demonically driven death lovers have been assaulting churches, crisis pregnancy centers and other pro-life organizations.

Over the weekend, three women interrupted a Texas church service screaming obscenities as they stripped down to underwear stained with red paint and bras painted with green hands.

A group known as "Rise Up 4 Abortion Rights" praised the action, tweeting "Abortion on Demand and Without Apology!"

Another group, known as "Jane's Revenge," vandalized the Agape Pregnancy Resource Center in Des Moines, Iowa. Windows were shattered, and "God loves abortions" was spray-painted over the walls. The group openly bragged about their vandalism on social media, saying that attacking Agape was "fun and easy."

In May, the same group gleefully claimed responsibility for throwing Molotov cocktails through the windows of a Wisconsin crisis pregnancy center, firebombing the building that stood for life. Yet another crisis pregnancy center was burned in Washington state.

We've prayed and worked for decades to overturn Roe v. Wade. The leaked opinion indicates that we may be just days away from that long-term, intense effort coming to fruition. The security and law enforcement presence in our nation's capital is nearly unprecedented.

Liberty Counsel will continue fighting for life on Capitol Hill and in the 50 states no matter what the court's ruling says. This is a battle between good and evil, life and death. The assassination attempt on Justice Kavanaugh's life and what our staff is witnessing outside the court reveals the nature of the demonic evil behind abortion.

Please be in prayer for our team and our nation. {eo}
