

Woman Says God Raised Her From the Dead to Give This Message

The woman is a modern-day Lazarus.

Yvone Sklar thought she had the flu, but the devastating illness wrecking her body was pneumonia, and her body quickly dissolved from painful coughs into septic shock.

"I said, 'What's going on, Lord?' And He said, 'Trust Me,'" Sklar tells CBN.

The doctor tried to put Sklar into a medically induced coma, but she refused.

"I kept telling him, 'I've had a really good life, and I know where I'm going, and it's OK to just let me go,'" Sklar recalls.

Her organs failed, and her friends contemplated pulling the plug. They didn't know Sklar's soul had departed from her body.

Watch the video to see what happens next.