

‘Appalachian Awakening’ Explodes in West Virginia

No one expected that an unknown evangelist named Matt Hartley would be a catalyst for an exploding revival in West Virginia. First churches, then schools—nothing can escape the awakening’s far-reaching grasp.

The revival has grown to the point of earning the moniker “The Appalachian Awakening.”

Watch the video to see what’s going on.