

Are You Courageous Enough to Admit You Need Personal Revival?

You don't have to wait for the sleepy, apathetic, lukewarm church to wake up! You can be a living, breathing, walking revival – setting everything you touch ablaze for God – NOW!

You want to live true, biblical Christianity; the kind you read about in the New Testament. Lukewarm, cultural, go-with-the-flow, worldly Christianity (as if there were such things) will never do. You want to radically burn and shine like John the Baptist (minus the locusts and camel hair). He lived ... and died ... to point the way to Jesus. You want to burn and shine for Jesus like that. You want to prepare the way for the Second Coming of the Lord.

Many view the faith of the Christians in the New Testament like it is impossible to attain. But not you! You know God's power will enable you to live a radical life before Him.

You are willing to swim against the tide, stand firm until the end and live life on Narrow Road.

But what does a personally revived Christian look like? If you don't know what a revived, on-fire Christian looks like, how do you know we need personal revival? How do you know what to aim for?

For a detailed description of an on-fire, revived, red-hot follower of Christ, listen to this week's Fire Starter podcast episode. {eo}

Dr. Jamie Morgan is the author of the newly released book Thirsty: A 31-Day Journey to Personal Revival. She leads a movement for women in ministry, Trailblazer Mentoring Network

(). She is a senior pastor, prayer warrior, writer, revivalist, mentor and hosts the podcast Fire Starter. She graduated with her M.A. in practical theology from Oral Roberts University and her . from the Assemblies of God Theological Seminary. She serves on America's National Prayer Committee. Learn more at .

Read articles like this one and other Spirit-led content in our new platform, CHARISMA PLUS.