

Charisma Highlights: Chris Reed Unveils Prophetic Warning About the Coming 'Perfect Storm' for America

Following are snippets of the top stories posted this past week on . We encourage you to visit the links to read the stories in full.

Chris Reed Unveils Prophetic Warning About the Coming 'Perfect Storm' for America

In a recent prophetic dream, Pastor and MorningStar Ministries CEO Chris Reed says he saw that America is headed for tumultuous times in its future, perhaps to the point where many of the 50 united states will secede from the union before the country is redeemed and renewed.

"I believe we are coming upon a perfect storm as we see these events unfolding in the world," Reed says. "I don't believe America will be exempt from this. We really need to be in prayer and preparation and warn people around us. Although this will turn out to be successful, there are going to be some bumpy roads ahead. I think more than ever we need to have a prophetic perspective of current events around us.

"I had one of the most vivid, detailed dreams I've ever had that I believe is from the Lord regarding unfolding events from this point forward," he adds. "It's something we really need to take heed as a warning to prepare.

A Prophetic Vision of Spiders Coming Out of Russia

I had a vision of spiders crawling out of Russia and into Europe. This was a startling vision. The spiders I saw were gigantic and fast moving.

As Europe moves closer and closer to the edge of war, some intercessors are growing weary while others are growing bolder. Some are just waking up.

It's only the hand of God that's holding back Russia's massive army from completely annihilating Ukraine. Although we're seeing terror unfold before our eyes, God never promised there wouldn't be lives lost if we prayed. God charged us to pray without ceasing. And many are.

Who Is Really Behind the Transgender Movement?

America's culture war grew more intense last month after Florida's governor, Ron DeSantis, signed the Parental Rights Law, which prohibits educators from teaching about gender identity or sexual orientation to kids from kindergarten to third grade. The bill has broad support from parents, who believe teachers have no business talking to grade-schoolers about sex. But some employees at the Disney company staged a walkout to protest the bill, claiming that it promotes hate.

The furor reached a boiling point when videos were leaked to the media of Disney executives discussing plans to promote the LGBTQ+ agenda in children's programming. One of those executives, Karey Burke, president of General Entertainment Content, vowed during a conference call with other employees that 50% of Disney's characters will be either LGBTQ+ or racial minorities by the end of this year, as part of something described as the "Reimagine Tomorrow" campaign.

Latoya Raveneau, executive producer of Disney Television Animation, said on the Zoom call that she assumed Disney would keep LGBTQ+ themes or characters out of children's content, but that she was pleasantly surprised when they didn't. Raveneau admitted to having a "not-at-all secret gay agenda." Meanwhile another Disney employee, production coordinator Allen March, said in the recorded call that his team is committed to "exploring queer stories" to make sure the shows include enough "gender nonconforming characters."

Cindy Jacobs Prophecies: The Lord Says, 'Go Back to Studying the Power of the Blood'

I want to tell you about a little vision I had. Actually, I was in church last Sunday and I had this incredible vision of a container of water, but it was very cloudy. It looked very polluted.

I felt like this symbolized the problems in our lives and the frustrations we're having. In other words, there are these things in our containers within ourselves that are really disturbing us. But I saw one drop of blood from the Lord just fall in, and everything was instantly cleansed.

The Lord would say to you, "There are many things going on in your life, but haven't I shed My blood for freedom? Haven't I shed My blood so that you could appropriate my Scripture? So that you could appropriate who I am? Go back to studying the power of the blood."

Prophecy: God's Army Is Emerging Locked and Loaded

I see a spiritual army rising up, weapons of warfare in place and faces set; completely focused on Jesus and what He has asked them to do. This is an army not to be messed with and not to be taken lightly.

Satan had tactics that he used to bring division among the body of Christ over the last two and a half years, but he has not prevailed entirely. There is a remnant that has gathered, stronger than ever before. The church has awakened, and many in the body of Christ have become serious warriors where they were once sitting on the sidelines.

A Clarion Call to Reunite

The Lord says that this is a clarion call to reunite. Those who have been wayward from church are now being called back to find home churches again. It is time to find your place in the war, and if you know anything about the military, this means being submitted under authority. In the kingdom, we are only as powerful as we are submitted. This is an exhortation to find your place in the body of Christ—to once again go back to fellowshiping closely with other believers, reunited. {eoa}

Read articles like this one and other Spirit-led content in our new platform, CHARISMA PLUS.