The death of country music icon Dolly Parton has brought an outpouring of grief across America. But prophetic voice Amanda Grace says believers may want to pay close attention to the timing of Parton's death.

Parton died Aug. 25 at age 80 following a brief battle with cancer. Born Jan. 19, 1946, the legendary singer died during a year already packed with historic milestones and unusual calendar convergences.

Grace believes those details could carry prophetic significance.

"So the death of Dolly Parton runs way deeper than you think," Grace said.

Central to Grace's interpretation is what she describes as a two-year "9/11" window stretching from 2025 to 2027. Using the digits of the years, Grace points out that $2+0+2+5$ equals nine, while $2+0+2+7$ equals 11.

"We are smack in the middle of the two-year window that equals 9/11, 2025 to 2027," she said.

Grace then pointed toward several events converging in 2026. America is marking its 250th anniversary. President Donald Trump turned 80 in June, and Parton died at the same age. Trump also serves as both America's 45th and 47th president.

But perhaps the most striking calendar connection Grace highlights is still ahead.

Rosh Hashanah begins at sundown Sept. 11 this year. The Jewish New Year, associated biblically with the Feast of Trumpets, centers around the sounding of the shofar and begins the High Holy Days.

Grace also pointed to 1946, the year both Trump and Parton were born—and the year the Nuremberg trials concluded.

That historical connection carries another unusual biblical parallel. Grace believes this connection is especially relevant as events involving America and modern-day Iran continue unfolding.

“Now, in the 80th year since those Nuremberg trials, that was called Purimfest 1946, we see prophetically the Book of Esther playing out in a parallel before us in this nation and in Iran,” Grace said.

Grace cautioned that she believes America is entering a “defining moment,” particularly as September approaches and the nation moves closer to the midterm elections.

“There is a timing to this in this nation,” she said. “There is more to this than we think that we’ll watch unfold.”

Whether these converging dates ultimately prove prophetic remains to be seen. Yet Grace’s primary instruction to believers is not to become consumed with numbers or political speculation.

Instead, she says Christians should keep their attention fixed on God.

“Continue to be watching right now,” Grace said. “Be in the Word of God every single day. Keep the faith.”
