

From 9/11 to Global Crises: Jonathan Cahn Reveals Spiritual Patterns Shaping Our World

Jonathan Cahn is exploring how spiritual forces and “avatars” influence nations and events, often without people realizing it.

In a powerful interview on CBN’s “Global Lane,” Cahn explains that these spirits never die and can return whenever a society or culture empties itself of God. “Even 9/11,” Cahn notes, “was foreshadowed in the temple—when it would happen, even the hour it would take place.” Just as a person can be repossessed after being delivered, so too can nations be vulnerable when they turn away from spiritual truth.

Cahn highlights the concept of spiritual templates, showing how modern events echo biblical patterns. These patterns extend to leaders and nations, shaping outcomes in ways that often go unnoticed. One example Cahn uses is the weak leadership by the Biden administration and how he withdrew from Afghanistan, which symbolized the influence of dark spiritual archetypes. Cahn emphasizes that these patterns are not about the individuals themselves, but are part of a larger spiritual framework that affects nations, cultures and global events.
