

Holy Spirit Outpouring Breaks Out on FL Campus as Students Turn to Non-Stop Worship

An extraordinary move of the Holy Spirit that broke out at Florida's Southeastern University (SEU) a week ago is continuing. Some people have been comparing to the Asbury Awakening from 2023.

It began during a three-day conference that started last Monday and was scheduled to end Wednesday evening. When speaker Jennie Allen called students to repentance, Campus Pastor Jonathan Rivera told CBN's Billy Hallowell that things unexpectedly began to change.

To order Kathryn Krick's new book, Ignite Revival, visit .

"What she did was she asked students to confess sin publicly and as loud as possible. At first, we were kind of like, we don't know how this is going to look or where it's going to go, and students literally leaned in completely and started shouting as loud as they could, confessing sin, burdens, issues, all kinds of stuff. And after that happened, something shifted in the room, something undeniable happened that we all felt," Rivera said.

Jennie Allen reported last week, "Two hours ago this was supposed to be did a call to ministry, and almost the whole room stood don't know what's happening."