

How Renewing Your Mind Can Make Your Dreams a Reality

In this new year of 2022, I admonish you to think differently. People desire outcomes and results opposite of their experiences but aren't willing to sacrifice the comfortability of the normal.

Different effects warrant other applications. Continuing to do what you've always done will never lend to new results. We all dream and envision ourselves experiencing success and achievement in new ways and capacities, but often fail to realize the requirements which render such outcomes.

Thinking differently is the beginning of obtaining what you've yet to experience. The word different means not ordinary or common. When you cease to align yourself with the status quo, commonality, familiarity and safety are how to shift your life from mundane to extraordinary. Refuse to enter this year as you did the previous ones. Challenge yourself to think differently so that your dreams become a reality—life changes when your mentality about life does, as will every other area and aspect of life.

Change begins with how one thinks, according to Proverbs 23:7 (KJV), "For as he thinketh in his heart, so is he." Away with new year's resolutions; it's time to make a new year's change toward the unusual by stretching beyond the familiar to achieve greater and better. Shut the door on commonality while opening the door to change. {eoa}
