

Is America in Danger? Perry Stone Reveals a Chilling 2028-2032 Prophetic Timeline

Could America be approaching a prophetic turning point unlike anything the nation has witnessed before?

Prophecy teacher Perry Stone says a startling encounter led him to examine an ancient pattern surrounding Jerusalem—and what he believes it could mean for the United States beginning in 2028.

Stone says he awakened at exactly 1:45 a.m. on Feb. 1 and heard an audible voice declare four years: “2028 to 2032.” He says the Lord then directed his attention to the four-year period preceding Jerusalem’s destruction by the Romans.

Stone’s message centers on a sobering premise: Could the patterns that preceded Jerusalem’s devastation reappear in America?

Jesus foretold Jerusalem’s destruction in Matthew 23 and 24, and Stone notes that the catastrophe unfolded through a process culminating in A.D. 70. He believes that the four-year progression contains a prophetic pattern America cannot afford to ignore.

“Jerusalem’s events that occurred during those four years are going to repeat in patterns in the United States of America in a four-year period of time,” Stone says.

Throughout his teaching, Stone lays out connections he sees between ancient Israel and America—from the journey to their respective lands to their governmental structures, geography, capitals and biblical influences woven into American history.

But Stone’s argument becomes much more sobering when he moves from history to spirituality.

He points to idolatry, the shedding of innocent blood and sexual immorality as sins that plagued ancient Israel before judgment. Stone sees unmistakable parallels with America's spiritual condition today.

Then come the harbingers.

Citing the writings of ancient historian Josephus, Stone recounts strange signs reported around Jerusalem before its destruction: a comet, an object resembling a sword in the heavens, extraordinary phenomena in the clouds, a mysterious light at the temple, and a massive temple gate reportedly opening without human assistance.

Stone says the signs were interpreted differently, even though some believed the supernatural occurrence at the gate meant angels were protecting Jerusalem. Others believed precisely the opposite: that God's protection had departed.

That distinction lies at the heart of Stone's warning.

America has experienced extraordinary blessing, but biblical history repeatedly demonstrates that blessing should never be mistaken for unconditional protection. A nation can possess enormous influence, wealth and strength while simultaneously experiencing profound spiritual decline.

If Stone's 2028-2032 timeline proves significant, the most important question may not be what happens during those four years.

It may be whether America spiritually prepares before they arrive.
