"It wasn't a focus of our ministry at all," Weaver says. "But I remember the Lord speaking to me so clearly, right around Resurrection Sunday and everybody was gearing up for that. And I'm like, 'okay, Lord, what do you want from us?'"

The answer: get the people to the water.

"I felt the Lord saying, 'take the people down to the water and baptize my people. Give them a chance to be baptized,'" Weaver says.

Weaver decided her ministry, the Core Group, would go down to Clearwater Beach where they would have communion and worship. After, anyone who wanted to be baptized could get baptized. While Weaver thought they may have 50 or 60 people show up, the masses came out instead.

"We didn't know it was going to be over 400 something people that came out to the beach. It was absolutely powerful," Weaver says.

Weaver says she began to have a vision of the ministry traveling to all kinds of different places where they would hold baptism services. Weaver believes there's a greater significance to what God is doing in the earth right now.

"I believe that it is the Lord getting His church ready. I believe He's getting us prepared and ready because He's coming soon. And I don't want to give a timeframe for that because I'm not that person, because nobody knows the day or the hour. But I do believe this is a part of getting the church prepared," Weaver says.

This is a time for true repentance and recommitment to Christ. We are in a season for the old to be wiped away so when Christ comes, the church will be spotless and holy, ready to be united with our Savior. This is congruent with the fact that Weaver is seeing plenty of people decide to get re-baptized because they finally understand the weight of what it means to follow Jesus. Weaver also says this time, the baptisms she's seeing are bringing on the physical manifestation of healing and deliverance through the power of Christ.

"They are going through deliverance...people have shared that they have gone into the water and have been healed. Backs [have] been healed, bodies being healed," Weaver says.

As the summer continues, we will see how the Holy Spirit will prompt even more people toward the act of baptism.
