

Kim Clement's 2014 Prophecy: Is His Warning to Israel and Netanyahu Unfolding Today?

In a 2014 message, Kim Clement delivered a prophetic word concerning Israel, its leadership and the shifting power dynamics across the Middle East.

Clement started with a direct appeal to Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu, challenging fear narratives surrounding Iran and global political pressure. Clement declared, "Netanyahu, that you cannot be afraid of Iran. Even though they say you should be because America is not doing what it's supposed to do and the United Nations is not doing what it's supposed to do. Since when have I had to rely upon the United Nations? And since when have I had to rely upon those even in America that would help you?"

This word appears to be of even greater importance now as tensions with Iran escalate, including recent Iranian demonstrations where a Baal effigy was publicly destroyed that was complete with provocative markings and anti-Israel and anti-American messaging, before it was set ablaze amid chants and celebration.

A prophetic word for #Netanyahu.

Iran, Saudi Arabia, Russia – revealed years ago.

Clement emphasized God's historic covenant relationship with Israel. "I have stood with you right from birth." From there, Clement moved into a prophetic commissioning. "God says, 'Netanyahu, I have given you the power to speak over these people, [and] made you a prophet.'"

He then switched focus from Iran to Saudi Arabia. "It is not Iran, but look to Saudi Arabia, and you shall see what I shall do, for they are the ones that have instigated, and Russia is looking this way."

Clement also spoke strongly about prophetic voices being raised for Israel's protection. "My prophet stands here and says these words to protect and speak words to protect this nation." Even amid uncertainty about global alliances, the message reinforced divine security, adding, "Look away from America, but for a season they have said we are with you, but are they really? ... That God said that doesn't matter."

Clement also called on Israel to intercession. "Even as Jehoshaphat prayed did I not hear, as Hezekiah prayed did I not extend years, when Gideon pray did I not extend years?"

Ultimately, Clement gave Israel hope and reminded them of God's divine favor. "People shall say, surely the Lord has prospered Israel once again says the Lord."

In seasons where political strength falters and global systems prove unstable, Scripture consistently points back to one unshakable truth: God alone establishes and removes kings, and He alone defends His covenant purposes. Right now, we must stand in the gap, pray for Israel and the nations, and trust that God is still writing His story across the earth.
