

Prophecy in Motion? Amanda Grace's Stunning Revelation on Persecution

President Donald Trump has decided to grant farmers from South Africa asylum Amid brutal apartheid. However, this may not just be part of a governmental power move, but rather part of a prophetic word given to Amanda Grace on Jan. 25, 2025.

In an X post, Amanda Grace shared the word she heard of God's coming justice and righteousness to South Africa.

South Africa, your day of recompense is upon you, says the Lord, for you have entertained the whisperings of apartheid over and over again and you have begun to move toward such a temptation. That spirit has moved to take power in South Africa, that spirit has oppressed and now, says the Lord, there shall be a decompression of such.

So, could this new action by the president be part of this as prophetic fulfillment?

In this announcement he also noted that regardless of the person’s race, we cannot ignore the ongoing injustice of murder and loss of land in South Africa.

“I don’t care about their race, their color, I don’t care about their height, their weight, I don’t care about anything. I just know that what’s happening is terrible. I have people who live in South Africa; they say it is a terrible situation taking place. So, we’ve essentially extended citizenship to those people and to escape from that violence and come here,” Trump says.

This moment marks more than a political gesture—it may well be a turning point in a deeper spiritual reckoning. As South Africa grapples with the resurgence of old wounds and dangerous ideologies, the world watches a nation at a crossroads. This decision may be the first ripple of a larger wave of justice set in motion by God’s hand. As the veil is lifted, what was once tolerated in silence is now being confronted with truth and action.
