

Prophecy: Why History Belongs to God Alone

I would like to share my heart on the situation in America and the prophetic words regarding this. Prophets are now being accused of having gotten it wrong, of being false prophets, and many are speaking out and cursing the prophetic.

I feel I have a word from the Lord about this that I would like to share, and I pray you will hear my heart.

As far as prophecies regarding the elections are concerned, it wasn't just one or two prophetic voices that prophesied that Donald Trump was going to win a second term. If that was the case, we could easily say, "Well, they got it wrong." We could forgive them and move on. But rather, it was a great majority of reputable prophets and prophetic voices, from North America and other nations; they all, in unison, were declaring similar words they were receiving from the Lord, that either Donald Trump was going to win the election, win a second term; some said they heard he would win two consecutive terms.

I have a deep assurance in my spirit that the vast majority of such well-known, sound prophetic voices, from many streams in the body of Christ, all declaring the same thing, could not have gotten it wrong! I do not think that this is possible!

I don't call myself a prophet, but I believe I am prophetic and that God speaks to me, so I include myself in this, as I wrote that Donald Trump would win the 2020 election. I believe most, if not all, were hearing correctly and prophesying correctly.

I have spent 27 years under the crushing, refining and loving hand of the Lord, learning to hear His voice and recognize how He speaks to me, and I would like to say that I am not ready to apologize as I believe that the story is still unfolding.

It is important to understand in interpreting what has happened that prophecy is not an exact science. Prophecy is the heart and mind of God being delivered through human flesh, who may not be in possession of all the parts.

The mind of God is so vast and surpassing, so much higher in transcendence than our ways and our thoughts, that we must recognize that we cannot determine or control the way God intends to unfold His will. Prophets say what they hear and wait to see the manner in which God chooses to bring it to pass.

This is what we're doing right now as we watch and wait, as things are unfolding daily, much that is not being shared on the news. We are living in unprecedented times, and things are changing rapidly, moment by moment.

Let us look at an example in Scripture of the unfolding of a specific prophetic word. In 1 Chronicles 22:9-10, God spoke to David and declared that Solomon would become king after him and would build the house of the Lord. When David was old and dying, Adonijah, David's other son, rose up and declared himself to be the king. Adonijah prepared horses and chariots and fifty men to run before him, establishing his right as king.

However, Nathan the prophet, Zadok the priest and David's mighty men were not with Adonijah. Here we see that the prophecy given to David concerning Solomon took a turn in another direction. Nathan, seeing what was happening, then advised Bathsheba to do something about it, as her life and the life of her son would be in danger if Adonijah remained as king. They went before King David and reminded him of the prophetic word. The king then acted and established Solomon as king over all Israel.

We do not know which way this present presidential drama will turn as the story unfolds, yet we must always remember history belongs to God, it is His story, and God alone sets the narrative. {eoa}
