

Trump's Return: America's Divine Reprieve

As I reflect on the unprecedented events we've witnessed in recent days, I'm filled with a deep sense of awe and urgency about what God is doing in America.

With President Donald Trump's anticipated return to the White House in January 2025, it's clear that the forces of globalism—the World Economic Forum's Great Reset plan, the United Nations' Agenda 2030 and other initiatives pressing toward centralized global governance—are facing a major setback.

Many of us in the faith community believe this shift is not only political but profoundly spiritual, marking a divine reprieve from the unfolding events foretold in the book of Revelation. I believe God is calling us to seize this moment to share the gospel of Jesus Christ, bring in a final Great Awakening and prepare the body of Christ for what lies ahead.

In my new book, "The Trump Code," and during our 40 Days to Save America campaign, we've emphasized the need for prayer, fasting and repentance. Now, I am urging President Trump to use his inaugural address to call on Americans to pray, repent and seek God's guidance and blessing. Over the weekend, one of President Trump's lawyers and a golfing partner delivered my message to him, including a video I recorded: "An Open Letter to President Trump, Urging Him to Lead America in Prayer, Repentance and Revival!"

If he does this, I believe it would be the "Nineveh Moment" Billy Graham spoke of in my 2013 interview with him: an opportunity for America to not only turn back to God but also to see revival grow throughout the nation and the world.

Joined by our “77 Days to Take Back America: Igniting the Final Great Awakening” initiative, encouraging people to keep praying, fasting and repenting from Nov. 5 to Jan. 20, 2025, Inauguration Day, this movement calls believers to unite in prayer, trusting that God has granted us an opportunity to reclaim our nation and push back against the globalist agenda.
