

What God is Revealing Through His Prophets

Today was a day in the future God once had His prophets speak about. That means today is a day God prepared His people to walk victoriously in. We need to let that sink in.

There are people who claim to represent God who are promoting fear and doom and gloom. This is not of God; it is entirely of the enemy of God who seeks to defeat us and prevent us from aligning ourselves with God's victory.

There is nothing God does that He doesn't first reveal to His prophets. Why? Because He wants all His children to hear His plans and intentions so they are prepared and in position to receive all His blessings and benefits. Have you been listening?

I have been a student of the Bible and prophecy for over 35 years. I don't personally hold the office of a prophet (yet?) but I know God has spoken prophetically through me. The apostle Paul instructs all believers to seek to speak and heed the prophetic. Why? Again, because God wants His people to be in the right place at the right time to benefit from His extravagant provision and protection. So what has God said about the present times we're living and what can we expect in the future? Read More . . . {eo}
