

Yes, Angelic Visitations Still Happen Today—And Here's Proof

Some may say angels don't appear to people like they did in the Bible, but prophet and teacher James Goll says that's dead wrong. He remembers the night a shofar blast woke him up in his bedroom and he saw a huge, shining angel standing at the end of his bed.

"The whole room was lit up with a brilliant, white, glowing presence," Goll says. "And the word of the Lord came to me, and it said, 'It's time to begin.' That was a prophetic word that was announced to me by an angelic messenger sent to me, and probably angels were on assignment."

What he saw next, though, shocked him even more. Listen to the podcast to hear how God still sends angels to His people to bring important messages.
