

5 Lines to Consider as We Purpose to Come Up Higher This Summer

Something new is coming to your email!

Beginning today, I will publish five Greenelines thought starters as added value to your Greenelines subscription. (Remember, you can always unsubscribe if my content is not for you.)

I think you will like what I will send to you six days per week. My weekly newsletter will continue to be published on Thursdays. You can expect to receive recommendations, reviews, links, ideas and a wide variety of content in list form. You will be able to read the blog in under 30 seconds. My goal is to provide something meaningful to you every day.

Today's list is focused on helping you make your summer highly productive:

1. What needs to happen before Sept. 1 to help me finish the year strong?
2. Spend one hour more for 90 days on the one thing that matters most.
3. Who needs you on your "A" game? Tell them about your plans.
4. Write five handwritten notes to encourage others to come up higher this summer.
5. Read Ecclesiastes 3:1-15 to begin every morning for a week.
