

A Prophetic Vision of the Last Days of America

Pastor Shane Warren says he had a last-days vision about America and the church. In his open vision, Warren says he was looking at his TV when a newscaster announced an emergency.

“It was a hurricane that stretched all the way from the northern border to the southern border, and it was moving right down the heart of America,” Warren says.

Watch the video to see what happens next.