

Alveda King: 6 Key Points We Must Honor on Martin Luther King Jr. Day

In an interview with Fox News, Alveda King, Martin Luther King Jr.'s niece, honored her uncle.

She provided six key points Americans can honor as they commemorate the civil rights activist:

1. To dishonor a prophet by raising a political banner which supports killing innocent babies on MLK's birthday is so inhuman.
2. To dishonor a prophet by raising a political banner on his birthday is so inhuman.
3. King sought after the spirit, not the flesh. He was after the divine.
4. 20th-century skin-color-race-card inflammation will not solve crimes against humanity; including abortion, human trafficking, modern slavery, oppression.
5. MLK did not serve politics. He didn't serve government. He served God.
6. We are not colorblind; we are one human race; one blood, created in living color.

Watch the video to see her full interview.