

Are Heaven, Hell Real? One Renowned Movie Director Says No

First it was controversial Christian leader Rob Bell stating that there is no hell and eternal punishment. Now Francis Ford Coppola, Oscar winning director of the “Godfather” series and other memorable films, proclaims to the world the absence of hell and heaven is right here!

Serious error must be countered with a biblically informed worldview. People’s eternity depends upon it. We have a responsibility to our churches, children and the next generation to tell them the truth and that’s what this compelling video does.

Bestselling author and cultural commentator Larry Tomczak brings home the message winsomely and uncompromisingly in this excellent presentation.
