

Are We Ready for Times of Fire?

How far were the early Christians willing to go to follow Jesus? And what about his modern-day followers? Do we have what it takes to face imprisonment, suffering, even death?

A new film releasing in theaters for two nights only, Oct. 11-12, explores that topic and much more of the biblical truth behind modern-day events. The 7 Churches of the Revelation: Times of Fire examines the mysterious letters of Christ given to the apostle John to share with the seven churches of Revelation, finding deep connections within them to current world events.

What prophetic message did our Lord send to them—and to us?

A recent Q&A with biblical experts and scholars at the Museum of the Bible in Washington, D.C., revealed the public's intense interest in this topic. Are we ready for Times of Fire?
