

Bethel Pastor: What Charismatics Must Learn From Other Denominations

Eric Johnson says Charismatics need to learn from other streams of the body of Christ. Johnson recently gave a sermon at Bethel Church in Redding, California, where he explained that every stream of the body of Christ has something to offer, even if they don't get everything right. Instead of focusing on what a certain denomination gets wrong, he says, focus on what they get right and integrate that. In this short clip, he gives a real-life example of that.