

Bill Johnson: Sometimes It's Wrong to Spiritually Contend

Bill Johnson says there are seasons when believers should powerfully contend with authority in the Spirit—but there are also seasons when they should not. God can do just as much when Christians rest in faith as when they wage warfare. Johnson explains the powerful effects of resting in the Spirit in this short teaching.