

Breaking The Web of Witchcraft!

If you have been hit with intense amounts of witchcraft over the last few weeks, you will want to read this all the way to the end.

I have spoken with several prophets and prophetic people who are connected to our ministry and many have been feeling an extremely heightened level of witchcraft and warfare over the last couple of weeks. Some were not recognizing that is what was happening until I mentioned how many others were dealing with it also.

Whether it be physical attacks, mental onslaught/confusion (very common) or attacks in relationships, jobs, etc., the enemy has been warring against God's people, especially those called in the prophetic.

Mine has been in several ways and although I was fighting back, it wasn't until this past weekend that I heard the Lord speak a familiar phrase to me while in prayer early one morning.

I heard – "Remember the web of witchcraft coming against you ... you need to break it!" ☐

This is a phrase the Lord spoke to me several years ago during this same season/time and as I became aware of the witchcraft the enemy was releasing, I realized I needed to up my game in regards to how I fight this.

The Lord showed me at that time that this web was not only causing an onslaught of attack in different ways, but also a lot of confusion in the mind, muddled thinking, major depression, despair and hopelessness (wanting to quit). If you picture walking into a spider's web at night; you don't know where it is coming from but suddenly you are wrapped up in it and it almost seems impossible to get free from it for a little bit.

Of course, I am always aware that there is usually a bit more warfare for us prophetic folk during this time of year; one of the fun parts of being aware of things on a more intense level in the spirit realm.

The spirit of divination (GR. pythos = python) and witchcraft being sent out by those aligned with the agenda of the enemy is always a bit more intense during this time of heightened activity.

I do not say this to glorify what they do but simply to state it as fact of the way things are. They don't win, of course, unless we let them but they do feel empowered by all of the evil and witchcraft happening in all realms (even in some churches, sadly) and they do fight harder than normal at times. For this reason, it is to our benefit to be aware of the "schemes (or wiles) of the devil" (Eph. 6:11) and to fight back with the weapons of our warfare.

During that time several years ago, the Lord also showed me that I needed to be more purposeful and intentional about warring and breaking this "web of witchcraft." I needed to match the intensity of the enemy. I went into extra prayers, more specific declarations and letting the enemy know that they had stepped over the line and they HAD to leave immediately. I also took communion more during that time and worshiped the Lord more intentionally, lifting Him higher. His blood is more than enough to break any witchcraft of the enemy. It simply needs to be appropriated and applied. I noticed when I did these things, the schemes of the enemy against me were thwarted quite easily.

When I awoke a few days ago to the Lord speaking again about "remember the web of witchcraft," I honestly felt a little bit silly that I had not recognized what was happening with myself and others. Sometimes we can get so "wrapped up" in what is happening to us and around us that we fail to recognize what the enemy is doing fully. That is what happened with me ... because to be honest, it's just been a rough year all around!
