

Christian Rock Band Leader John Cooper Talks Political Climate, New Book

Skillet's John Cooper joins Mike Huckabee on a recent episode of Huckabee's Jukebox on TBN to discuss Cooper's take on recent political events, his new book and how he moved from a secular rock band to one of the most well-known Christian rock bands in the music industry.

Cooper remembers how someone told him, "You could be the biggest band in the world, but you've got to stop talking about Jesus."

And with assurance, Cooper replied, "There's no way I could sell out my faith for rock'n'roll."

Watch their interview now!