

{ Day 92 }

Let the beloved of the Lord rest secure in him, for he shields him all day long, and the one the Lord loves rests between his shoulders. —Deuteronomy 33:12

Every time Satan comes to weight down your heart with his lies, speak what the Word says back to him. The next time your own heart points a merciless, judgmental finger at your own failings, listen to the loving voice of Jesus as declared in His Word that says, “We are pleasing and beautiful to Him. Yes, we have ravished His heart!”

{ PRAYER STARTER }

I hear Your loving voice, my Father, and it drowns out the depressing, lying voice of the enemy. I will not hear his voice; I will not believe his lies. You are my hope, my sustenance, and my joy.

When you hear the affirming words of your Beloved, do not open your mouth to protest.
Accept them. Believe them. They’re really true.
