

December Prophecy: Press On!

I heard the Lord say, "Behold, I do a new thing! I aim to bring you into new opportunities in the year ahead. I want you to walk free, unencumbered by the strife of the past, by the disappointments of the past, by the ties that bind you to your past. It is time to look ahead with fresh eyes, to move with fresh energy and with a fresh anointing that comes from being willing to let go, to turn the key of finishing and to walk through the new doors I have for you. There are issues in your homes, issues in your mind and issues in your heart that need to be resolved so you can run the race I have set before you without the heavy weights and toxic trouble of the past. Choose this day to resolve, reconcile and repent of the old ways so you can move into the new thing I have prepared for you."

Pressing past your past is largely a choice. Get inspired to press with this prophetic teaching video.
