

Discernment Mistakes and How to Avoid Them

Have you ever discerned something, shared it with someone in authority and was met with false accusations against your character?

Discernment, even when it's accurate, is not always to be shared.

So how do you know when, with whom and how to share what you discern so you don't keep stepping into warfare?

Check out this video teaching with Jennifer LeClaire. {eo}