

Documentary Proposes Old-School Answer to Modern Dating Woes

Fifty percent of America is single, and fewer people than ever before are committing to a traditional marriage. The dating scene can be tricky to navigate these days, especially for Christian singles trying to avoid the dreaded “hookup culture.” But a professor at Boston College has a solution—one that returns dating to its old-school, traditional morals. Watch the trailer for the documentary The Dating Project here.